AN S. A. L. FIRST

The MS Kungsholm is proud to be the only cruise ship that tomorrow morning at 11.00 A. M. will be privileged to begin the presentation of a series of films that has achieved unprecedented accolades from the critics and public alike — Sir Kenneth Clark's widely acclaimed masterpiece:

"CIVILIZATION"

This series of thirteen 52-minute films comprises a wise and sprightly trek through Western cultural history, from the end of the Graeco-Roman world to the skyscrapers of contemporary New York. Kenneth Clark, Lord Clark of Saltwood and a celebrated art historian and author, has filled each of them with works of genius — in sculpture and painting, architecture, philosophy, poetry and literature — enhanced by great music from each of the different eras.

Written and narrated by Lord Clark, this British Corporation production was filmed during the course of two years, in 117 locations, 19 libraries, and 118 museums in Europe and America. The series has been described as "not merely a definition of civilization but a sustained and nourishing celebration of it."

Through the brilliance of the photography, the magnificence of the objects photographed and the incisiveness and wit of his analysis, Kenneth Clark has succeeded in building bridges over space and time. No person will come away from these films without a sense of personal growth and exhilaration.

"THE FROZEN WORLD"

Kenneth Clark opens his examination of the ideas and values of Western civilization by describing the ideal which was conceived in 5th Century Greece and lasted more than six hundred years. After the fall of Rome, when nearly all the life-giving activities that we lump together under the word "civilization" had been obliterated in Western Europe, the custodians of the past, the early Christians, fled to places of refuge on the most inaccessible fringes of the known world, leaving Europe to the pagan wanderers with their restlessness and their remarkable craftsmen. At last Charlemagne, the first great man of action to emerge from the darkness, re-established contact with the ancient cultures.

2. The Great Thaw
Western Europe came alive in the 12th Century. In this film Clark describes the hundred marvelous years in which the great abbeys and cathedrals — Cluny, Canterbury, Winchester, Vézelay, Moissac, Autun and the magnificent Chartres, the first great church dedicated to the Virgin — reflected the expansion of the human spirit. It was the era of the belief that God could be approached through beauty, gentleness and compassion. "Great things were to be done in the next three centuries of high Gothic, great feats of construction, both in architecture and thought, but they all rested on the foundations of the 12th Century."

"THE PEACE GAME"
An unusual and brilliantly photographed visit to the animal kingdom of South Africa. Having won many international awards, this is one of the most unforgettable films on animals yet to be produced.
followed by
"ELSA THE LIONESS"
(Of "Born Free" fame)

This is the only film documentation in existence of one of the most amazing animal-human relationships ever known. It picks up where "Born Free" — the smash box-office hit — leaves off. If anything, it is even more appealing, because its star is the real Elsa — not a "stand-in." Wounded in a fight with another lioness, Elsa comes back from the jungle to visit her human family — Joy Adamson and her husband George, the Senior Game Warden of Kenya. With her, Elsa brings her three wild cubs. Joy Adamson does what nobody else would dare to — and what no other jungle lioness would allow. She applies salve to Elsa's open wound. She tells how she knows when to approach Elsa, and when to keep her distance. We also see how Elsa's three cubs, wild and almost full-grown, react to their human "grand-parents."

There will be a short pause between films for the changing of reels. Running time: 1 hour.

- LADY SINGS THE BLUES — (2hr. 24 m. Par., '72) Diana Ross is musically and dramatically sensational in portrayal of legendary blues singer Billie Holiday. Emotion-packed, from early brothel days through tortuous bouts with drugs, racism, and the law, to her triumph at Carnegie Hall. In the traditional movie biography mold, but done with dignity, restraint, taste, and a good supporting cast. Billy Dee Williams, Richard Pryor. Dir. Sidney J. Furie. In Color.

"THE AFRICANER"
Boer society today

From South Africa, the world looks eccentric and hostile. Traditionally, the Afrikaner has depended for survival on the Bible and the gun. Now the modern Boers are looking for new safeguards against the black blanket, the United Nations, long-haired hippies, and revolutionary Communists massing on all sides to rob them of their hard-fought independence.

This film examines the contradictions and eccentricities of today's Boer society. How many people in the West realize, for instance, that black Africans are staying in white hotels in South Africa? That striptease is allowed under police supervision, provided the in-white staff doesn't see it? That the extreme right-wing Afrikaner is accusing his Government of breaking with history and trying to take the country out of its blinkered past into the progressive glare of the twentieth century?

To most Afrikaners, racial segregation and the array of laws which place the security of the state above the rights of any individual are obvious necessities against change and compromise.

MASKED BALL

Friday, February 22, is the evening during the cruise when Cruise Members have the opportunity to create a new identity. An aura of mystery will prevail after dinner that evening in the Main Lounge when only those wearing a mask will be allowed entrance.

Cruise Members are urged to enter the mask competition which will be one of the fun features of the evening. Prizes will be awarded for the most beautiful, most unique, and most humorous masks. There will also be a category for masks with costume.

Harlequin masks will be provided for all whether they enter the competition or not.

For those who wish to compete, a Staff Member will be located in the Purser's Square Today, Friday, Feb. 15th, from 2—4 P.M. to provide you with your mask and any materials which we hope will motivate your talents to create that prize winner.

Masks for those who prefer not to compete, but we sincerely hope will want to participate in the fun-filled evening, will be given out in the Main Lounge on the night of the Ball.

IMPORTANT
BOARDING PROCEDURE FOR SHIP'S TENDERS

In order to avoid crowding at the gangway, Cruise Members are kindly requested to use the forward stairs and lifts and proceed to the Main Lounge on Verandah Deck, via the Starboard side entrance past the NK Boutique, where a Staff Member will give them a tender embarkation card indicating the tender to which they have been assigned. These cards will be of varied colors, and the number of cards distributed will represent the total Cruise Member capacity of each tender.

DISTRIBUTION OF TENDER EMBARKATION CARDS WILL COMMENCE AT 1.45 P. M.

An announcement will be made over the public address system when tenders are ready to receive Cruise Members. A specific color will be called and only those Cruise Members holding the particular colored card will proceed immediately to the designated gangway via the aft stairways and lifts.

All Cruise Members must be in possession of the above mentioned card until the majority of Cruise Members have debarked the ship in order to be allowed aboard a tender. Your co-operation in this matter will be appreciated and meanwhile you will be able to relax in the Lounge free from the confusion and crowding which would otherwise occur in the foyer by the gangway.

The films shown during the course of this Cruise are the best films attainable at the present time, from our film distribuwas able to obtain as many as fifteen or twenty prints of one film.

That is not the case today where film company's due to economy, are only making four or five prints of new films and, consequently, these films are remaining for long periods of time on the local theater circuits.

Man — The Measure of All Things

The great names of this film are Botticelli, Masaccio, Bellini, Giorgione, plus one northerner of like ideas, Van Eyck. The place is Italy. The time early 15th Century — the era of discovery of modern man not as God's servant but personified in the motto of the Florentine architect, Alberti: "A man can do all things if he will." If the cathedrals were built for the greater glory of God and the skyscrapers of Manhattan were erected to Mammon, then Florence and the courts of Ferrara, Mantua and, Clark's favorite, Urbino, provided the link between them. The architecture of humanism is here exemplified by the Pazzi Chapel and its man at his most confident, not with his god or possessions but with himself.

 About the year 1500 the full power of the Renaissance struck. Rome exploded into an expanse of imperial splendor. Over all the magnificence of Michelangelo, Raphael and Bramante stands the dominant power of Pope Julius II. Without him, Clark believes, Michelangelo would not have painted the Sistine Chapel, Raphael would not have immortalized the Papal apartments and Bramante would not have torn down and started the rebuilding of St. Peter's. We also see the aging Leonardo da Vinci and his colder view of humanity reached through his scientific knowledge and restless curiosity. The center is Rome, a world of giants and heroes.

u. Protest and Communication

The series moves north at the close of the 15th Century where Gutenberg's printing press was becoming a major influence. The writings of Luther, Erasmus and Thomas More spread to a wider audience through the medium of printing. And the invention of printed woodcuts put art communication on a different footing.
The works of Dürer greater impact. Medieval life gives way to the doubts and fears of the individual in modern society. Montaigne and Shakespeare (in extracts of his plays performed by the Royal Shakespeare Company) spoke out for intellectual honesty and skepticism. A new civilization is created, not of the image but of the word.

11.00 A. M. "CIVILIZATION" — PART 7 — Auditorium
"Grandeur and Obedience"

The Rome of the Counter-Reformation of Michelangelo and Bernini and Sixtus V — the most grandiose piece of town planning ever attempted. Only a generation after the city had been burnt and sacked, Rome and the Church of Rome regained many of the territories they had lost and became once more a great spiritual force. In a thousand images this film documents the lustiness and luxury of early Baroque. The works of Titan, Rubens, and Bernini appeal to the universal emotions, for the essence of Baroque is the uniting of flesh and space, dogma and sensuality, obedience and freedom. This unity is also evident in the great religious figures of the time: St. Ignatius, St. Theresa of Avila and St. John of the Cross.

8. "The Light of Experience"

The stunning canvasses of the 17th Century Dutch painters dominate this film. The Dutch were the first to grasp the revolutionary change in thought that replaced divine authority with experience, experiment and observation. Parallel with their fascination with light and their careful observation of human nature—what Descartes called the natural light of the mind—this period was also the great age of scientific instruments. Kenneth Clark travels from the Holland of Frans Hals, Rembrandt, Vermeer and Saenredam to the London of Isaac Newton and Christopher Wren, mathematician turned architect. The spirit of free enterprise—modern capitalism—begins to make itself felt through these thoroughly modern men.

LANDING FORMALITIES — JAPAN

A passenger OVERLAND LANDING CARD valid for both Kobe and Yokohama will be distributed to your cabins. This Landing Card must be carried on your person whenever ashore in Japan, and it is imperative that it be returned to the Purser's Staff at the Purser's Office, or at the gangway prior to our departure from Yokohama.

MOST IMPORTANT

PASSPORT AND LANDING CARD

While ashore in Japan Cruise Members are REQUIRED to carry their PASSPORT and LANDING CARD on their person at all times.

LOCAL CURRENCY

The currency used in Japan is the Yen (Y) divided into 100 sen. For 1 U.S. Dollar you get approximately 300 Yen at the official rate. Yen is the only currency negotiable in Japan, but U.S. Dollars, Canadian Dollars and Swedish Krona (and others) may be taken into Japan and exchanged at the official rate. Be sure to save your currency conversion certificates as you may be called upon to produce them when you leave Japan and wish to reconvert more than $100 of unspent Yen into dollars. Up to $100 U.S., or 30,000 Yen, may be reconverted with no currency conversion certificate required.

Many times a higher exchange rate is given when you cash Traveler's Cheques ashore.

NOTICE

A white mink scarf was left in one of the public rooms. Any Cruise Member with information regarding this lost item is kindly requested to report it to the Purser's Office, Upper Deck, Midship.

9. "THE PURSUIT OF HAPPINESS"
The music of the 18th Century — Bach and Handel ("St. Matthew Passion" and "Messiah") and Mozart and Haydn ("Don Giovanni and "Creation") — rings out in this film with melodious flow, complex symmetry and decorative invention. These qualities are also reflected in architecture, but not in the deeper appeal to emotions.
It is the rococo style. Serious-minded people may call rococo shallow and corrupt, but Kenneth Clark notes that the framers of the American Declaration of Independence saw fit to mention the pursuit of happiness as a proper aim for mankind. "If ever this aim has been given visible form it's in rococo architecture — the pursuit of happiness and the pursuit of love."

"THE SMILE OF REASON"
The art and sculpture we see in this visit to the 18th Century might be characterized as a Gallery of Smiles. With notable exceptions — the etchings of Hogarth for one — this is an age happy in its belief that through reason and moderation the millennium is at hand. The political paintings of David, the salons of Demure, the sculptures of Houdon all reflect the optimism of Voltaire the Encyclopedists who would advance mankind by conquering ignorance. The theme of this film shifts from the great places of Blenheim and Virginia, to Edinburgh and to the hills of Virginia, where Thomas Jefferson made his home at Monticello in the 1760's.
Here is the Century called the heir to Renaissance Humanism, not taking place within the framework of the church and thus engaged in the awesome task of constructing a new morality.

11.00 A. M. "CIVILIZATION" — Part 11 — Auditorium
"THE WORSHIP OF NATURE"

A belief in the divinity of Nature is a new force in the 18th century. This program was shot in Switzerland where Rousseau lived, and in England where the new philosophy originated. Locations include Wordsworth's Tintern Abbey and Grasmere and Fountains Abbey in Yorkshire. The worship of nature has replaced Christianity as the chief creative force in Western civilization. Painters shown are Constable, Renoir, Monet and Turner, rendering in paint the perception of the great romantic composers. Clark acclaims Emerson as a genius whose works are the supreme exponent of Nature. The idea of the natural goodness of man is, of course, a happy and self-serving thought that most people still cherish today. Civilization, which for so long had been dependent on great monasteries or palaces or well-furnished salons, could now emanate from a cottage."

"THE FALLACIES OF HOPE"

The beautiful dreams of the 18th Century are blasted by the betrayals of the 19th Century. The makers of the French Revolution ended into butchers, victimized by the most terrible of all delusions: they believed themselves to be virtuous. When Beethoven learned that Napoleon had declared himself Emperor, the great composer had to be forcibly restrained from destroying the manuscript of his Eroica, which he had intended to dedicate to the democratic Napoleon. The chief figures in this period of romanticism from 1789 through the 19th Century are Byron, Beethoven, Blake, David, Delacroix, Rodin, Daumier—a new reality, cynicism discovering and depicting the harshness of a world perhaps best stated by Turner's "Hope, hope, fallacious hope, where is thy market now?" "HEROIC MATERIALISM"
The final episode takes us from the industrial revolution to the present state of Western civilization. We are the world of the moon shot, the atomic bomb and the computer. The skyscrapers of Manhattan, the suspension bridge and the impersonal machine are objects which express the deepest feelings and aspirations of our time. Kenneth Clark also discusses great humanitarian reformers like Wilberforce, and Lord Shaftesbury, the conscience of Dickens, the paintings of the Impressionists and his own beliefs.
In his own words "one may be optimistic, but one can't exactly be joyful at the prospect before us. Despite atom blasts and doomsday machines, civilization continues to inch ahead "like a rock climber, three steps up, two steps down—but in the end— an ascent."
